IT'S ALL POLITICS At the GCCA Catskill Gallery...

Greene County Council Catskill Gallery hosts a group exhibit, "It's All Politics" from September 24 through November 12, 2016. In this election year, it will be impossible to escape politics. This show won't be an endorse-ment of any particular candidate, party or political system. Rather, it's an opportunity for artists to share their angst, questions, hopes and fears about the political system and the future. After all, November 8, 2016 is right around for review, though not on the Visual Arts Committee, they persuaded my "visual vote." According to the artist, Mother Alaska, by Stuart Friedman is about Sarah Palin and Mother Alaska, by Stuart Friedman is about Sarah Palin and her relationship with conservative politics and Alaska and some of the contradictions in the imaging she portrays. He shares this about his other piece, Osamabama Drama, "This painting I did shortly after Osama Bin Laden was shot. I used stereotypes to form the images of Obama and Osama and I wanted to show that the media uses such stereotypes for political purposes and to shape peoples preporting of our landers and peoples." perception of our leaders and enemies.

Please visit the GCCA Catskill Gallery during this election period and see for yourself the works that were chosen from the submissions to "It's All Politics" group chosen from the submissions to "It's All Politics" group exhibition. Meet the artists who offer the viewer another slant on being "politically correct or incorrect." Join the artists at an opening reception on Saturday, September 24, 2016 from 5-7 PM. The opening is free and open to the public, no matter their political persuasion. Gallery hours are Monday through Friday, 10 AM to 5 PM and Saturday from Noon to 5 PM. GCCA Catskill Gallery is located at 398 Main Street in Catskill, NY. For more information on the exhibit and the artists visit www.greenearts.org.

A VERY SPECIAL BOOK SIGNING EVENT

GCCA Welcomes the Daughter of a Dear, Dear Friend

Greene County Council on the Arts is honored to host a book signing with author and daughter of GCCA Founding Board Member and dear friend, the late Ruben Garcia aka Tito Valdez. GCCA invites you to meet author Francesca Pratten, who will sign Two Lives, Many Dances, an endearing memoir and story of her parents about the passions and love they shared. This very special book signing takes place on Friday, October 7, 2016 from 5-7 PM at the GCCA Catskill Gallery. This event is free and open to the public.

Discover Ruben's early family life and Puerto Rican heritage and how he broke away from his mothfamily life and Puerto Rican heritage and how he broke away from his mother's vision of his going to Columbia University to study medicine. Europe, both Spain and Paris, play a big part in his artistic adventures. Corinne's life and upbringing, so very different than Ruben's, is shared giving insight into her life struggles. Get to know Ruben and Corinne's families, and be swept away as you read the unfolding story of their many passions and loves. Ruben was one of the original founders of the Arts Council in 1975 and became President in August 1979. Ruben was an active member in the burgeoning Greene County Arts community and taught in local schools, but how did he find Greene County and when was "Mr. Edison rich enough"? (It's in the book!)

Francesca Garcia Pratten lives in Port St. Lucie, Florida with her charming husband, Joe. Together they raised four children on a small farm in Leeds, New York. In 2015, using her father's notes and family oral history, she completed this story that her father started writing in 1972.

Two Lives, Many Dances is available for purchase at $19.95. Published in a 8.5 x 11 inch soft cover format, Two Lives, Many Dances is perfect for any collector and a wonderful read. The 214 pages include graceful photography as evocative and beautiful as Ruben and Corrine.

As the "Not So Quiet Music carries on into fall season the Middleburgh Library, via FY16 DEC Community Grant recipient Sonny Ochs, is proud to present two amazing shows.

Duo Emma's Revolution performs on Thursday, September 15 at 7PM. Smart, funny and informative- like Rachel Maddow and Jon Stewart with guitars. Emma's Revolution is the duo of award-winning activist musicians, Pat Humphries and Sandy O. Colled "inspiring outputs and of the college of the co 0. Called "inspiring, gutsy and rockin", Emma's Revolution's songs have been sung for the Dalai Lama, praised by Pete Seeger and covered by Holly Near. The duo's awards include Grand Prize in the John Lennon Songwriting Contest and for the second year in a row the Washington Area Music Association's Fan Favorite Award.

In addition to Pat's solo CDs, Revolution has released three CD's and recorded two with three CDs and recorded two with Holly Near. Their songs have also been included in numerous compi-lations. The duo tours 200 days a year and, in the spirit of Emma Goldman's famous attribution, "If I Goldman's famous attribution, if if can't dance, I don't want to be part of your revolution," Emma's Revolution has brought their uprising of truth, hope and a dash of irreverence to thousands of concerts and activist events across the US and abroad.

Emma's Revolution's "Peace, Salaam, Shalom" has been chosen for the new hymnal of a worldwide denomination. Out of the hymnal's 600+ songs, Community Christ has selected "Peace, laam, Shalom" to be taught to its 250,000 members worldwide and has created "Peace Through All People," a stunningly beautiful and moving video of congregants and friends from Australia to Zambia singing "Peace, Salaam, Shalom", with verses in French, Spanish and English.

On Thursday, October 6, at

is a musician's musician with a unassuming presence on the folk scene since the early nineties. His voice belies his musicianship and Voice belies in musicianish and his extraordinary songs. From Rishi's Garden with it's homage to Ravi Shankar to the groove of Sleeping Beauty, Tom's music is melodic. ambitious, and reverent. He's starting to tour again after being featured last year on the nationally syndicated TV show Troubadour Texas.

In the fall of 2007 Tom quit the road to produce records, raise two stepdaughters, and walk a rather large Golden Doodle named Thurman twice a day. In addition to producing, he took a job teaching nusic at White Rock Montessori in Dallas. TPR was formerly the song-writing teacher at The University of Virginia's Young Writer's Workshops where he created the songwriting curriculum and taught for eight years

From headlining major festivals 15 years ago to the relative obscurity of a recording studio Tom continued to mature as an artist. That work blossomed into an impressive resume of producing credits as well as cuts (his songs covered by other artists). 2014 marked Tom's departure from his adopted life and his return to the road. # DEAR MEMBERS AND FRIENDS,

Great news! Many of you may have received our email earlier in July. For those of you who didn't and have been following our notices, here is the news.

The Greene County Council on the Arts and all Decentralization regrant organizations throughout the state have been spared the agony of facing a six month gap in funding beginning July 1, 2017. As I noted in my page 2 articles "Prompt Contracting Issues and Potential Budget Gap Problems" in the Mar-April and July-Aug issues of Arts Alive, this delay in contracts and funding would have necessitated furloughing/laying off our Decentralization staff since we could not operate the state's program without a contract. Naturally, this would have affected hundreds sitated furloughing/laying off our Decentralization staff since we could not operate the state's program without a contract. Naturally, this would have affected hundreds of thousands of artists and community agency grantees and an untold number of their audiences, our constituents and your friends. Our General Operating Support would also have been delayed by six months and the risks of surviving without adequate funding loomed large.

So after 40 years of service to our communities, we are thrilled and relieved to tell you we should be around for another 40 years! Help from our elected officials, persistent advocacy through our coalition ArtsNYS and all your efforts on our behalf, certainly paid off. The New York State Council on the Arts (NYSCA) has worked out a solution, allowing us to receive contracts and funding in our fiscal year, July through June, rather than moving us to a January through December contract year.

solution, allowing us to receive contracts and unioning in our miscaryear, July intrough June, rather than moving us to a January through December contract year. We are extremely grateful to our partners at NYSCA for their willingness to hear our concerns and offer a solution which will work for all of us. Thank you for your concern and willingness to help the Greene County Council on the Arts. Please continue your support. Thank you!

Goncerts In The Village:

BROAD STREET ORCHESTRA AND SOLOISTS IN BAROQUE & CLASSICAL MASTERPIECES

At 4 PM on Saturday, October 29, 2016 at the Kinderhook Village Hall, Concerts in the Village (CITV) will present the Broad Street Orchestra in the first concert of its seventh season. Founded in November of 2010, CITV includes the Broad Street Chorale, the Broad Street Chorale, the Broad Street Chamber Players, as well as guest soloists. The program will be devoted to works of Bach, Handel, Mozart and Haydn.

David Smith, CITV's Artistic Director and conductor, notes that "this special concert will mark the re-introduction of an acoustically ideal, but long-neglected performing space. I am hopeful that more concerts will follow there.

I have carefully evaluated this somewhat forgotten venue and believe that listeners will share my enthusiasm for it. In an area with very few mid-size locations suitable for classical music performance, I believe this to be a real find!"

The all-professional Broad Street Orchestra will open the October 29th program with one of Bach's best known works, the colornful Brandenburg Concerto No. 1. This justly popular baroque gem is a feast of instrumental virtuosity. Handel's somewhat darker, richly-textured Concerto Grosso in e minor, op. 6/3 follows. Composed at the height of Handel's remarkable career, this work for strings and harpsichord is a brilliant example of the composer's prodigious imagination.

work for strings and harpsichord is a brilliant example of the composer's prodigious imagination.

After intermission the program moves to the Classical period, with two concert arias by Mozart. These are drawn from a particularly colorful and emotional genre of opera-like works often written for famous singers of the 18th c. Listeners invariably find Mozart's concert arias very expressive and diverse in mood. The concert concludes with Haydn's early Symphony No. 22 ("The Philosopher"). Colorfully scored for pairs of English horns and French horns, this relatively brief masterpiece is a perfect example of the composer's spirited orchestral writing.

A $20 donation is requested. The Kinderhook Village Hall is handicapped accessible. There the seating limited and reservations are recommended. Please visit www.concertsinthevillage.org or call $18.758-6869.

In support of expanded programming and preceding its first regular season concert, at 4 PM. on Saturday, October 1, 2016. CITV offers its annual benefit concert and reception, Artists Thanking Donors, once again to be held at picturesque Keene Farm in Stuyvesant, NY. As part of its Annual Appeal or otherwise, each CITV donor of $ 100 or more is entitled to attend.

Details at: www.concertsinthevillage.org or 518-758-6869.

CITV concerts are made possible, in part, with public funds from the Decentralization Program of the New York State Council on the Arts, administered through the Community Arts Grants Fund in Columbia County by the Greene County Council on the Arts. Generous funding has also been received from the Hudson River Bank and Trust Company Foundation, National Union Bank of Kinderhook, Stewart's Holiday Match program, and from many individual and business supporters.

An Intersection of Art and Fashion Through Designs by Thirty New York Designers

Big shout out to Michele Saunders and her co-curator, Jojo America! Michele, Joio, and our Visual Arts Director, Niva Dorell, created a most wonderful FIRST for the Greene County Council on the Arts: the Wearable Arts Fashion Show!

To celebrate the thirty New York designers in its current Wearable Arts exhibit, and raise some money for the GCCA Visual Arts Program in the process, Greene County Council on the Arts presented its first fashion show fundraiser at newly repovated event space loes lasinon show indicialiser at riewly renovated event space Joe's Garage on Saturday, August 13, 2016. Over 190 fashion enthusiasts were in attendance! The fashion show featured a runway performance of all thirty designers' work, as well as trunk sales by high-end fashion stores Kasuri, Look Hudson, Brooklyn Industries, Laloon, and Artists and Revolutionaries, along with a silent auction for shopping sprees with co-curator and featured designer Jojo Americo, and makeover consultations with Face Stockholm. Paul Alexander of dance group The Ones was the MC at the event announcing the MC at the event announcing the models and designers on the runway. Michael DeBenedictus and Sam Aldi, Doubles II, provided the fabulously stocked and well tended cash bar. Both the Wearable Arts exhibit and fashion show are co-curated by fashion show are co-curated by fashion icons Michele Saunders and Jojo Americo. The Wearable Arts exhibit remains on display through September 17th at the GCCA Catskill Gallery located at 398 Main Street in Catskill, NY. While the Catskill High School puts on an annual fashion

marked the village's first professional fashion show, one lead by co-curator and featured artist Jojo Americo. Having worked for jewelry designer Glen Yank, and then for 17 years as the designer for Patricia Field's windows (before Sex and The City and The Davil Wasser Prad). America The Devil Wears Prada), Americo went on to create his own clothes, shoes and jewelry (he is the creative director of 1919-Jewelry For Happy People), in addition to painting, collecting, and being a singing, songwriting member of dance music group The Ones. Americo is joined in the Wearable Arts exhibit by twenty-nine other designers Wearable Arts exhibit by twenty-nine other designers representing a broad spectrum of men's, women's and unisex clothing, jewelry and accessories. Designs range in fabrics and construction, from Kate Hamilton's wood and 'silk' burlap jacket (made with silken burlap, shipples tree wrap stables and shingles, tree wrap, staples and thread) to Laloon's painted silk dresses, Brian Kenny's collage iersey banners, and Ruby Silvious

GCCA Meets GREENE COUNTY YOUTH FAIR

Great Art, Great Minds, Great Youth

On a warm and bright late afternoon, GCCA's Sharon Shepherd and Volunteer Donna Christensen had the opportunity to act as jurors in the Arts & Crafts division in the Greene County Youth Fair recently held on July 26, 2016 on the majestic grounds in South Cairo, NY. Scores of young artists ages 5 and up waited in line with their works for judgment and inclusion in the section. Most came along with their supportive families and it was evident they were serious about the art and craft they made. They came to us with wild anticipation, however, it was these two jurors who were most the most encouraged by their enthusiasm, dedication and insight about their individual creative process, resourcefulness and desire to make a piece of artl All entries were terrific. We had our favorites and we wish we could have spent were terrific. We had our favorites and we wish we could have spent more time talking with the youth. We know they will hold onto to their inspirations and passion. We wish them success and know they will continue to support the arts wherever their art form may take them. GCCA extends a warm thank you to Patty Ross, Greene County Youth Fair Superintendent, for making this a wonderful experience.

To, from 3-5 pm.

Nature provides an endless source of fascination and inspiration for artist-scientist Sandra Orris. Her flora and fauna illustrations depict intricate details and interactions that might go unnoticed by the casual observer. A life-long naturalist, she hopes her art will remind us to look more closely at the amazing beauty of our environment and to care about even the tiniest of our fellow

Artist Dot Chast, of Coxsackie, has always loved the woods and has made that one the focuses of her work. Her family camped many summers, where they hiked and learned about trees and wildlife. It was a time of freedom, when she was a time of fleedoff, which she learned to appreciate nature. On her way to being an artist, a sketch-book was not only a study book of what was all around her but a way to record what she observed and a diary not of words, but of memories and images. Dot has taught classes like "Yes, You Can Draw" and beginning pastel and oils, because she likes to see people discover that they can do "art" and to have them learn to see and understand the natural world around them.

This show will highlight both artists' work and bring their perspective on what inspires them and their love of nature.

Poetry by CAITLIN IPPOLITO

The raspberry patch, a Labor of Love Reaching through thickets and thorns

Reaching through thickets and thorns
Tugging gently on the vine for it to release its ripe fruit.
Occasionally encountering a spot here and there that relentlessly refuses to budge and pricks the finger that pleaded but quickly retreated with a scream.
Juice stained, but it eventually washes clean.
Standing insistently in the hot sun or pouring rain,
Slowly sneaking about for the plumpest berries.
Tentatively reaching past wasps as they land on the leaves.
Watching the ants bravely stand guard leaping from leaf to lower branches
Everyday trying to beat the birds to the punch.
Flicking Japanese beetles before they suck the juices dry leaving shriveled fruit sadly hanging next to hard pink berries awaiting their turn.
Leaving each session with red scrapes from being grabbed by the bush 'cause it's too hot for sleeves.
Thinking of tomorrow and what yield it will bring.

As former co-owner and chief snowmaker of the Hunter Mountain Ski Resort, David Slutzky has compiled a collection of photography featuring the colors of sunrises and sunsets refracted in the mist of the snowmaking process. An avid explorer of the less trafficked mountains of the area, he has also captured some of the area, he has also captured some of the most iconic images of the Northern Catskills. His photographic collection presents a meditation on contrast, with dark shadows cutting through snow-covered landscapes or carving lines beneath rock walls that glisten in the sunlight – a chiaroscuro effect he learned to appreciate during his early days as a student at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Art. A lifelong artist who has dabbled in many mediums and the current President of the Greene County Council on the Arts, his portfolio area, he has also captured some of the County Council on the Arts, his portfolio includes a selection of quiet black and white scenes as well as pencil sketches and illustrations that will be a 60-plus works displayed by both artists throughout the 200 linear feet of the Theater at Columbia-Greene Community College.

The epic struggle between good and evil comes to life on stage in the musical rendition of Jekyll and Hyde. Based on the classic story by Robert Louis Stevenson, the musical features a thrilling score of pop rock hits from multi-Grammy and Tony award-nominated Frank Wildhorn and double Oscar and Grammy and double Oscar and Grammy award-winning Leslie Bricusse. The musical tells an evocative tale of two men: one a passionate and romantic doctor, the other a terrifying madman; and two women: one beautiful and trusting, the other beautiful and trusting only herself. Both women are in love with the same man, but in love with the same man, but unaware of his dark secret.

Admission is $14, for the general public, and $12, for students and senior citizens. # Battle of the Books Coming to C-GCC Campus

The Mid-Hudson Library System's 12th Annual Battle of the Books regional competition will be held Saturday, September 17, 2016 from 9 AM to 3 PM at 17, 2016 from 9 AM to 3 PM at Columbia-Greene Community College. The college is a co-sponsor of the 2016 Middle School Battle of the Books Regional Competition. The competition is for students in grades sixth through ninth who are part of teams from more than 25 Mid-Hudson Library System libraries. Participants spend the 25 mio-nudson Library System libraries. Participants spend the summer reading eight titles and then take part in trivia battles based on the books.

The free battle will take place in several classrooms on the collago's Greenport campus.

the college's Greenport campus the college's Greenport campus, though welcoming remarks will be held in the Arts Center Theater. The goal of the national program is to promote a love of reading in students, to expose them to titles and authors they might not encounter in school, and to inspire teamwork and good sportsmanship in an atmosphere of friendly competition.

Today, more than 300 students from the five-county.

Today, more than 300 students from the five-county region that makes up the Mid-Hudson Library System participate in the program. # GCCA Sprouts Program Wraps-Up its 30th Season! Six Weeks of Fun in the Arts!

Summertime fun and creative workshops in art, music, theater and dance were offered during the six weeks of the Sprouts Program through Greene County Council on the Arts. The Sprouts Program traveled and convened at six various locals throughout Greene County offering arts programing free of charge, for children ages 3 to 7. Arts workshops took place in Windham, Coxsackie, Cairo, Greenville, Hunter and Catskill. Each week brought professional artists to share with young children the joy of their art form. In Cairo theater teacher, Donna Trunzo, worked with children to write their own play. The story was about a lonely princess who had no friends because she lived with a smelly bear, and thusly she smelled too. On the day of the kingdom's big race, Stacey, the car driver lost control and crashed into the castle. He was captivated by the princess and took the bear to have a bubble bath. No more smelly bear and no more smelly princess. The town rejoiced! The play also included dance numbers lead by teacher, Erica Russo, and life size portraits as backdrops made in Ruth Leonard's art class.

Cher Russo, and hie size portraits as Dack-drops made in Ruth Leonard's art class.

Other exciting projects included Tasha Depp's art class using a variety recycled materials; Sarah Barker's art projects involved student-made geometric coloring books and talking sticks; Tara VanRoy, dance instructor, choreographed movements using the jazz classic "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy"; Alice Caulfield's theater classed acted out the classic story "Millions of Cats"; Carmen Borgia led the Theater workshop resulting in an original play "Animal Fair" that incorporated a monkey puppet and an elephant made of costumed children; Marion Seigal, theater, created a play with children entitled "In the Garden"; Kate Boyer, music, children wrote and learned songs, played a variety of instruments, played a giant piano game and interacted with a hand-made magical tree. Many other wonderful projects occurred over the six weeks of the Sprouts Program of 2016.
